

Lead well tomorrow

Discover how to coach today

Have you ever taken a moment to consider what coaching is?

Have you ever been given the opportunity to develop your coaching skills?

Are you or your business considering formal coaching qualifications for your leaders?

Recognising that today's leaders must coach, HR Heads and Procurement Heads are delighted to bring you the next in our Leadership series, in conjunction with David Chapman of Practical Coach Training and the employment law team at DMH Stallard.

Share a fun and interactive session with peers across the South, delivered by David who combines practical expertise as a much in-demand trainer and executive coach, with an academic background in executive coaching, emotional intelligence and positive psychology.

Join us on Thursday 10th March 2016 - 8.30am to 11.00am

at DMH Stallard, Gainsborough House, Pegler Way, Crawley RH11 7FZ

David focuses on improving performance levels of all his clients which have included HSBC, Standard Life, The European Bank of Research & Development, BP, Sky, The Association of Women Lawyers & GlaxoSmithKline. David offers practical takeaways for his audience, both professional and personal which will help you develop your coaching skills as you continue to lead.

Attendance at the event would qualify you or leaders from your business for a 15% discount off ILM accredited coaching qualification through Practical Coach Training and a free coaching styles indicator profile enabling you to further understand your natural coaching preferences.

To reserve your space and to book your coaching preferences profiling, please contact either

Andrew Lavey 01372 233044 Email andrew.lavey@hrheads.co.uk or

Martin Smith 01962 869838 Email martin@procurementheads.com

 DMH Stallard

 Practical Coach Training
refreshing coaching

 HR Heads

PROCUREMENT HEADS
SOURCING SOLUTIONS